Continuation of Disposition of Claims: Claims pending in the application are 1-9,11-18,20,24-31,33,35,36,38,40,41,43,45,47,49-56,61,62 and 64-68.

DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-9,11-18,20-21,24-31,33,35,36,38,40,41,43,45,47-67 have been examined.

Response to Amendment

2. This action is in response to the Amendment filed 12/19/2008. In the Amendment claims 1-9,11-18,20,24-31,33,35-36,38,40-41,43,45,47,49-56,61-62,64-68 were amended. This action is final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-9,11-18,20,24-31,33,35-36,38,40-41,43,45,47,49-54,56,61-62,64-68 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mustek ("Mustek", Attaching with Yahoo") in view of Eudora ("Eudora", "E-mail Attachments in Eudora: How to be a Super Sender").

As per claim 1, Mustek, attaching with Yahoo, teaches a web-based email system comprising: a graphical user interface (GUI) hosted by an email web server (Page 1, Yahoo! Mail), the GUI comprising: a first user-selectable button having associated text that includes a verbal of "attach" (Page 2, Make and Attachment), wherein in response to selection of the first user-selectable button a user is enabled to select a file to be attached to an email message (Page 2, by clicking the "Make an attachment" button a user is enabled to select a file to be attached using the attachment window), a list to display selected one or more files to attach, the list including the user-selected file (Page 2, #4 Attachment window, attachments 1,2, and 3); and a second user-selectable button having associated text that includes an imperative for "attach" (Page 2, #4, Attach) wherein in response to selection of the second user-selectable button the one more files displayed in the list are attached to the email message for subsequent electronic transfer (Page 2 # 5 and 6, Click attach and all the names of the attached files appear to the right of the make an attachment button), wherein the first user-selectable button, the list and the second user-selectable button are presented together to the user in the GUI (Page 2 wherein the pop-up window is simply an extension of the GUI, so all of the buttons are presented to the user together).

Mustek fails to expressly point out selecting a file in response to selection of the first selectable button.

However, Eudora teaches in response to selection of said first user-selectable button a file is capable of being selected by a user (Pages 2-3).

Therefore it would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention to combine the teaching of Eudora with the system of Mustek.

Motivation to do so would have been to reduce the step of selecting the browse button, resulting in a quicker file attachment.

Claims 2-9,11-18,20 are rejected under similar rationale, as claim 1, since the claims are directed towards non-functional descriptive material and regardless of what the button actually reads the functionality of the button remains the same.

As per claim 24, Mustek-Eudora teaches a GUI wherein the first user-selectable button is to instantiate a GUI element to find at least one file to attach to a message (Mustek, Page 2, Attachment window).

As per claim 25, Mustek-Eudora teaches a GUI wherein the GUI element comprises a dialog box (Mustek, Page 2 attachment).

As per claim 26, Mustek-Eudora teaches a GUI wherein the first user selectable button is to initiate a file browser of an operating system (Eudora, Page 3, Find document file dialog screen... ).

Claims 27 and 28 are similar in scope to that of claim 1 and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claims 29-31,33,35,36,38,40,41,43,45,47 are rejected under similar rationale, as claim 27, since the claims are directed towards non-functional descriptive material and regardless of what the button actually reads the functionality of the button remains the same.

Claims 49-50 are rejected under similar rationale as claim 48, since the claims are directed towards non-functional descriptive material and regardless of what the button actually reads the functionality of the button remains the same.

As per claim 51, Mustek-Eudora teaches a method wherein the GUI element comprises a dialog box (Eudora, Page 2, dialog box).

As per claim 52, Mustek-Eudora teaches a method wherein the GUI element comprises a file browser of an operating system (Eudora, Page 2, Mac or PC).

As per claim 53, Mustek-Eudora teaches a method wherein the text is included in a tag associated with the first user-selectable button (Eudora, Page 2-3).

As per claim 54, Mustek-Eudora teaches a method further comprising displaying the text in response to a mouse-over event associated with the first user-selectable button (Eudora, Page 2-3, inherent tool tip).

Claim 56 is similar in scope to that of claim 27 and is therefore rejected under similar rationale.

As per claim 61, Mustek-Eudora teaches the system of claim 1, wherein the GUI is rendered within an Internet browser application (Mustek, Yahoo!).

As per claim 62, Mustek-Eudora teaches the system of claim 61, wherein in response to the selection of the first user-selectable button, the Internet browser application opens up a file browser associated with an operating system (Eudora, Page 2-3).

As per claim 64, Mustek-Eudora teaches a system wherein the GUI is rendered with an Internet browser application (Mustek, Yahoo!).

As per claim 65, Mustek-Eudora teaches a system wherein in response to the selection of the first user-selectable button the Internet browser application initiates the file browser of the application (Eudora, Page 2-3).

As per claim 66, Mustek-Eudora teaches a system wherein the GUI is rendered with in an Internet browser application (Mustek, Yahoo!).

As per claim 67, Mustek-Eudora teaches a system wherein the GUI element comprises a file browser of an operating system (Mustek, Page 2 Attachment Window).

As per claim 68, Mustek-Eudora teaches a system wherein the GUI includes a list box to display the selected one or more files to attach (Mustek, Attachment window)

4. Claim 55 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mustek ("Mustek", Attaching with Yahoo") in view of Eudora ("Eudora", "E-mail Attachments in Eudora: How to be a Super Sender").

As per claim 55, Mustek-Eudora fails to teach audibly displaying text. However OFFICIAL NOTICE is taken that audibly displaying text is notoriously well known in the art. Therefore it would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention to combine the teaching with the method of Mustek-Eudora. Motivation to do so would have been to provide a way to communicate text with those with visual impairments.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-9,11-18,20-21,24-31,33,35,36,38,40,41,43,45,47-68 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

The Office notes that the factual assertion set forth under Official Notice in the previous office action was not contested.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
